Atlantic Council's Young Global Professionals

Atlantic Council's Young Global Professionals \(YGP\) program is our new, completely revised, paid internship program. With positions available across a broad range of our centers and programs, our YGP program provides young professionals, in at least their junior year of college, an opportunity to gain hands on experience working at the forefront of international affairs and global engagement. We are currently accepting applications through November 16, 2021 for our exciting Spring, 2021 program that runs from January 18 – May 4, 2021. Throughout the course of the program, our YGP interns will receive an in-depth orientation to the Atlantic Council and receive valuable career skills and operational training while also being able to coordinate and participate in events and activities hosted or participated in by the Council.

About the Atlantic Council: The Atlantic Council is a foreign policy think tank based in Washington DC that aims to promote constructive leadership and engagement in international affairs based on the Atlantic Council's central role in meeting global challenges. We provide an essential forum for navigating the dramatic economic and political changes defining the twenty-first century. Through the papers we write, the ideas we build, and the communities we convene, the Council shapes policy choices and strategies to create a more secure and prosperous world. Succeeding in our mission requires preparing a new generation of global leaders to take up the mantle of fostering a better global future.

Each of our programs and centers provide opportunities for interns to join in these efforts. We aim to provide interns with a substantive and enriching experience that introduces them to the world of foreign policy in Washington DC and opens the door to future careers in this space through the networks they build and knowledge they gain.

BRAC USA

Location: New York, New York

Apply by: September 10, 2021

<https://bracusa.org>

Position description

BRAC is a global leader in developing and implementing cost-effective, evidence-based programs to assist the most marginalized people in extremely poor, conflict-prone, and post-disaster settings. These include initiatives in education, healthcare, microfinance, women and girls' empowerment, agriculture, human and legal rights, and more. Headquartered in Bangladesh and working across 11 countries in South Asia and Africa, BRAC touches the lives of more than 100 million people worldwide.

Based in New York, BRAC USA is the North American affiliate of BRAC. BRAC USA provides comprehensive support to BRAC around the world by raising awareness about its work and mobilizing resources to underpin programs. BRAC USA works closely with international counterparts to design and implement cost-effective and evidence-based poverty innovations. It is an independent 501(c)(3) organization.

About the Position

BRAC USA seeks an intern with exceptional writing and research skills to support the Program Team for Fall 2021. Reporting to the Program Manager, Research & Learning at BRAC USA, the Research, Innovation, and Learning Intern will work with a small but productive team that actively supports the monitoring, evaluation, and learning efforts of various BRAC program areas including youth empowerment, education, and health.

This is a paid, part-time internship. The ideal candidate will be able to work remotely 15-20 hours per week, preferably in the mornings (EDT) Monday - Thursday. This internship will begin on or about September 27, 2021, and will continue for 13-15 weeks.

Candidates must be eligible to work in the United States for any employer. Due to the high volume of applications, only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted. No calls please.

Casa Cornelia Law Center

A public interest law firm that does pro bono work for victims of human rights and other civil rights violations with a focus on immigration rights. It offers students a diverse and exciting opportunity to volunteer as Legal Administrative Assistants or as General Law Clerks. We invite you to apply and be part of our efforts to provide quality pro bono representation to those in need. <https://casacornelia.org>

Candidates are selected according to the needs of the law firm, as well as the interests and skillsets of the interns. We accept students for the following sessions/semesters:

- Fall – August through December
- Spring – January through May
- Summer – June through August

Students volunteering must commit a minimum of 12 hours per week to Casa Cornelia. All students participate in a required orientation workshop prior to the beginning of each internship session. They are offered opportunities to participate in professional trainings and webinars, and may have the opportunity to accompany a legal team member to court hearings.

Although our internships are unpaid, many schools offer work study, unit credit, or grants. Law students are also encouraged to explore funding opportunities for their participation in Casa Cornelia's volunteer program through their school's community service or pro bono program.

The Consortium on Gender, Security and Human Rights

The Consortium on Gender, Security and Human Rights is an organization devoted to bringing knowledge about gender to bear on the quest to end armed conflicts and build sustainable peace. Founded in 2002, and now based at the University of Massachusetts Boston, its work is a result of collaboration between scholars and researchers, as well as NGOs and international institutions such as the United Nations. Through knowledge-building workshops, conferences, publications, speaker events, and fellowship and internship programs, the Consortium generates critical new thinking and engagement on gender, war and peacebuilding, providing a necessary bridge between research, activism and policymaking.

Because we are a small, non-profit organization, our interns are integral to the successful execution of all of our core activities, from research to the management of the Consortium itself. Additionally, we see our internship program is a key part of fulfilling our mission to educate emerging scholars and professionals, so we strive to provide interns with educational opportunities and mentorship.

Open Positions:

The application for Fall 2020/Spring 2021 internship positions is now open.

Please note: unfortunately, due to the volume of applications received, only finalists will be contacted.

Council on Foreign Relations Internship Program (Remote)

Interns are recruited year-round on a semester basis for positions in CFR's New York and Washington, DC, offices. An intern's duties generally consist of research, editing and writing, event coordination, and/or departmental support. Internships are offered in Digital Content, the Studies Program, Global Communications, Corporate Program, Washington Program, Meetings Program and many more, including Foreign Affairs.

Interns participate in CFR's Intern Professional Development program, which complements their substantive work with a series of skill-based workshops, training, and career advice sessions.

These events are designed to improve interns' writing, editing, research, and program planning skills, while also helping to sharpen interns' resumes and familiarize them with the multitude of foreign policy career paths and beyond.

CFR generally considers undergraduate and graduate students with majors in international relations, political science, economics, or a related field for its Internship Program. All applicants should have completed the equivalent of four semesters of college coursework (not including AP classes in high school) by the time they begin an internship. A regional specialization, language skills, and additional requirements may also be needed for some internships. In addition to meeting the intellectual requirements, applicants should have excellent skills in administration, writing, research, and computers, as well as previous office experience. Interns must also be willing to commit to fourteen to eighteen hours per week.

All fall 2021 internships will be on a fully remote/virtual basis.

To apply, visit this link: <https://www.cfr.org/career-opportunities/internships>

CFR has rolling applications.

The Counterterrorism Group is looking for Intelligence Analyst Interns and Technical Specialist Interns

Counterterrorism Intelligence Analyst Intern

Description

The mission of the Counterterrorism Group (CTG) is to protect individuals, organizations, personnel and places against acts of terrorism. CTG professionals develop customized services and solutions that help deter, detect, and defeat terrorism. CTG is looking for a select group of individuals to become Counterterrorism Intelligence Analysts Interns. Counterterrorism Intelligence Analysts Interns assess foreign and domestic terrorist groups as well as lone wolf terrorists to identify specific threats, warn of and preempt attacks, disrupt their networks, and eventually defeat terrorist organizations or individuals focused on committing an act of terrorism. Interns are expected to work remotely a minimum of 15 hours per week with weekly check-ins.

Responsibilities

As a Counterterrorism Intelligence Analyst Intern you will analyze large amounts of information and conduct investigations to gain an understanding of the issues and evolving situations to produce a range of intelligence products. You will also work as a world-watch officer analyzing and collecting data on daily terrorist events around the world. Being able to develop knowledge about the intentions, motivations, capabilities, plans, recruitment techniques and leaders of terrorist organizations or individual terrorists is critical.

This internship is ideal for candidates who are looking to gain valuable counterterrorism and analysis experience to become competitive candidates for the U.S. Intelligence Community. Interns must be passionate and dedicated about the work of counterterrorism and believe that one day terrorism can be stopped and want to work towards finding the solution. This internship is only for those who are serious about this work.

As an intern with the Counterterrorism Group (CTG) Technical Development Team you will have exposure to real projects and will play a crucial role in the decision-making of countering terrorism and various threats. The experience will include:

- Mentoring
- Group Intern learning experiences
- Business exposure
- Valuable project management experience

How to Apply: If you are interested in the internship, please

(1) name your cover letter and resume in the following format and save it as a pdf:

(2) email your cover letter and resume to watchofficermanager@counterterrorismgroup.com.

E-Collaborative for Civic Education (ECCE)

My name is Jasmine Ljungberg, and I am an ISCOR alum. I graduated from SDSU in 2016, and am now working as a Project Manager for a non-profit organization in D.C. focusing on advancing human rights and democracy in Iran: E-Collaborative for Civic Education.

This is an opportunity for ISCOR students who might be looking for a virtual internship for the fall. We are particularly interested in interns with a focus on Iran and/or digital security. It would be ideal to have more Farsi-speakers on board, but anyone with an interest in Iran would also be fine.

While we are registered as the non-profit organization E-Collaborative for Civic Education (ECCE), we are often known among the international human rights community and the Iranian community as Tavaana, referring to one of our flagship projects, Tavaana: E-Learning Institute for Iranian Civil Society, an educational platform, which uses e-courses and a vast pool of resources to train the public, especially Iranian educators, students, and activists, in human rights objectives and practices. We also have a sister project called TavaanaTech, which is more focused on aspects of digital security, including key prerequisites to promote democracy building in Iran, and the close link between technology and democracy. While our organization is primarily associated with these two flagship projects, we are always enthusiastic to learn more, establish new partnerships, and develop new projects.

Human Rights Funders Network

Location: Remote, D.C.

Apply by: June 28, 2021

<https://www.hrfn.org>

Position description

Launched in 1994, Human Rights Funders Network (HRFN) is a global human rights advocacy and open philanthropy network of funders and civil society committed to advancing human rights through effective and values-based philanthropy. Started by a small group of grantmakers, our community has grown into a global network of 1,900 individuals in nearly 450 institutions across 70 countries, with a quarter of members based in the Global South and East.

Description

HRFN is looking for a Membership and Advocacy Intern to support our membership and advocacy program. This role plays an integral part of our global team, providing administrative support, preparing written materials, and completing other projects as needed. This is an opportunity to contribute to the organization's efforts to build and leverage influence and visibility to support the human rights movements globally.

The internship is a 3-month, part-time paid position. HRFN is a global remote team so we are looking for someone who can take the initiative to reach out when they need help and troubleshoot issues as they arise. This role requires a dedicated and detail-oriented person who can manage multiple tasks with little oversight. We are also looking for someone who can be a team-player with a willingness to learn and adapt to shifting priorities.

To apply please send an email to: jobs@hrfn.org

Int'l Rescue Committee

We are offering positions in the following departments:

- Resettlement
- Immigration
- Citizenship Education Program
- Youth
- Vocational ESL
- Small Business Development Center
- Communications and Development
- Women's Resilience Center
- Safety and Wellness

The International Rescue Committee cannot act as a sponsor to visa holders and all internship applicants must be eligible to work within the United States.

International Visitor Leadership Program

The International Visitor Leadership Program (IVLP) will be marking its 80th anniversary in December 2020, and the Office of International Visitors (OIV) is looking forward to this important milestone. The yearlong celebration will highlight the accomplishments and lasting legacy of the IVLP. We will be soliciting nominees from the entire network for our “FACES of EXCHANGE” initiative (details in the upcoming Global Ties weekly update—check it out next week).

We need your help to identify youth diplomats (high school or college students in your community) to become involved in the initiative. Official Virtual Student Federal Service intern positions are restricted to individuals enrolled in college and this can be a great asset on their resume.

The job description for the Faces of Exchange Content Creator is outlined later in this message and will be available soon on USAJobs for any youth diplomat qualified to apply under the Virtual Student Federal Service \(VSFS\) program.

An official VIRTUAL STUDENT FEDERAL SERVICE \(VSFS\) if:

- They are a U.S. Citizen
- Enrolled as a student in a college-level or above degree or certificate program (including students who will be attending college this fall). The Virtual Student Federal Service \(VSFS\) is an eight-month remote internship program for U.S. citizen students, college-level and above, who would like to make a real difference in the work of the U.S. government. See option 1 details for application information for the official VSFS through USAJobs.

DETAILS VIRTUAL STUDENT FEDERAL SERVICE \(VSFS\) use the hyperlink for additional VSFS details

Since 2009, thousands of eInterns have expanded the efforts of the U.S. government, working remotely from their school, dorm room, apartment, local library, or coffee shop – wherever they happen to be! Virtual interns work only on unclassified projects. They report to their supervisors at the Department of State. eInternships run from September through May of each year and students contribute ten hours of work a week on their projects. VSFS eInternships are not paid. VSFS eInterns are not federal government employees, so they do not receive employee benefits. However, VSFS eInterns can gain invaluable work experience through their remote internships and learn more about the federal government.

The VSFS vacancy announcement is open July 1 – 31 on the USAJOBS.gov website. During that time, students may find the listing by searching for “VSFS” or “Virtual Student Federal Service” on USAJOBS. Students may apply to up to three projects, but our project is called: IVLP 80 Faces of Exchange Content Creator

NOTE: VSFS participation does not constitute official employment with the federal government. A VSFS eIntern awarded a Boren fellowship, for instance, does not need an official letter confirming his/her non-affiliation with the U.S. Government.

Students should credit their work as being done as part of the VSFS program for the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, Office of International Visitors in their online portfolio.

Jewish Family Service of San Diego (JFSSD)

Migrant Shelter Volunteers Needed – Jewish Family Service of San Diego (JFSSD)

From Chris Baca, former ISCOR student, MA candidate at the Middlebury Institute of International Studies, and president of the MIIS Immigrant Rights Alliance:

I wanted to pass this opportunity along for any ISCOR students who may be interested. As you may have heard the migrant shelter that I was part of back in 2018 is being re-opened. They are in dire need of volunteers to build the infrastructure needed to support the expected rise in asylum seekers along the US-Mexico border in San Diego and Imperial Counties.

I believe this would be a great opportunity for ISCOR students to get involved in real-world issues with life and death implications. I personally learned a lot about myself and the realities asylum seekers face on their journey. If any ISCORians are interested in becoming a volunteer please feel free to have them contact the current volunteer coordinator, Katrina Bruins, Katrinab@ifssd.org

Jubilee USA Network is an interfaith, non-profit alliance of religious, development and advocacy organizations. We are 75 U.S. institutions and more than 750 faith groups working across the United States and around the globe to strike at the roots of poverty and inequality. Our policy portfolio encompasses the following structural issues:

- Debt and Lending
- Tax, Transparency, Accountability and Corruption
- Consumer Financial Protections
- Trade Policies
- Preventing Financial Crisis and Austerity

We are recruiting Associates who are passionate about social justice and love working in a collaborative team environment. We offer a variety of professional development opportunities that will help you advance your career as an advocate of social justice in the nonprofit and government sectors.

To Apply

To apply, email your updated resume to olivia@jubileeusa.org and include the name of the position(s) you are seeking in the subject line. Please mention if you are open to multiple positions in your email if that is the case. We are accepting applications on a rolling basis and have the capacity to take on four to six associates in the cohort. While this is an unpaid internship, we enthusiastically work with the student and their college to offer academic credit. The Fall term runs from August 23 to December 17. Note: This internship can be completed entirely virtually but preference may be given to Associates who can participate in person.
